

PROPERTY | 07.03.17 | BY EMMA TUCKER

5 of the best Venice apartments to rent

From Gothic palazzos to an interior designer's home

Exterior of Calle Delle Erbe residence. Courtesy of Via Villas

Finding somewhere to stay in Venice is all about seeking out the less frequented spots where you can soak up the scenery away from the throng of tourists. And with canalside palazzos aplenty, the city has no shortage of grand interiors and historic locations for guests to immerse themselves in – some of which come with price tags to match.

Whether you're staying for the Biennale, or visiting for the weekend, we've picked out 5 of the best Venice apartment to rent, from a restored Gothic palace to an interior designer's contemporary bolthole.

REVERIA

press release
2017

Casa Flora

Courtesy of Casa Flora

This three-bedroom residence bridges the gap between home and hotel, with a mixture of public spaces and spacious private apartments – each of which has its own spa. Located in a 19th century building in San Marco, the apartments are designed by architect Matteo Ghidoni and interior designer Laura Sari, and feature custom-made furniture created by local companies.

From €600 a day. Sleeps 2 per apartment.

See the best Milan apartments for rent

See the best London apartments for rent

See the best New York apartments for rent

See the best Lisbon apartments for rent

See the best Paris apartments for rent

TAGS: HOLIDAY HOMES HOLIDAY HOMES ITALY VENICE VENICE PROPERTY

Emma Tucker

Emma is an editor and writer who contributes to Dezeen, Grafik and Creative Review

@emmatucker

SHARE THIS STORY

f Facebook

t Twitter

p Pinterest

0 Comments